

Animal Match Cards Craft

As animals grow up they change, some more than others. Use these cards to see if you can match the baby to its parent.

What you need:

- Baby animal match card printout
- Scissors

Directions: Cut out the cards in the printout and mix them up. The blue are the adults and the red are the babies. See if you can match the baby to its adult. Refer to the printout to check your answers. For an added challenge make it a game of memory by flipping the cards over in a grid and trying to find the pair. If you guess incorrectly flip them back. Once you found the pair take them out and continue your game until you've found all the matches. Once you've found the matches think about which ones went through metamorphosis.

Concepts

- Connection- Animals change over time, and young animals look different from adults. Some animals can look very different!
- Logic- sorting, connecting

What to say:

- What animal is that?
- Is it in water or on land?
- What does it remind you of?
- Do you think it went through metamorphosis
